Proclaiming Christ in Hayes

Remembrance & service.

Last week I spoke about the sacrifice of service. How in service to God we are called to serve one another and that service often comes with sacrifice.

In the case of St. Martin he sacrificed his cloak in service to the poor - and in doing so attracted the attention of God who made his cloak whole again.

On Remembrance Sunday we remember all those who have made the ultimate sacrifice in the service of our country and of God. All those men and women who have laid down their lives that we may live in a free and fair society.

We remember the young men who fought in the trenches of World War 1.

We remember the young men who threw themselves at the evil of fascism in the Second World War.

We remember all those families who lost their loved ones, who lost people through physical injuries or through the pain and torment of mental ill health upon their return.

We remember that sometimes it is our duty to stand up and to fight for what is right. To stand in the face of evil and to say no.

The thing about service is that any damage, any loss, is always made whole again by God.

We Will Remember Them

Just as an angel made whole St. Martin's cloak so too will he make our brokenness whole.

He heals us, He brings us peace, He calls us all to be with Him in Heaven if we're willing to hear Him and believe in His Son.

We will remember them. We will be healed.

Fr. Matthew
